Your partner for community regeneration services

As well as bespoke social value programmes developed in partnership with or on behalf of our members, we deliver a range of pre-packaged regeneration services.

Our ultimate objective across the board is to tackle unemployment by supporting job creation (including apprenticeships) and facilitating training opportunities for local people in your communities.

Social value through procurement

Social value clauses are written into our procurement frameworks, benefitting your local communities and ensuring you gain more than just significant efficiency savings on your procurement spend.

These commitments vary for each framework, but the majority focus on delivering training and employment opportunities. We'll also support you by monitoring the delivery of outcomes.

Social value through planning

We help local authorities and developers to secure training and employment opportunities directly linked to public planning processes.

We've supported more than 600 beneficiaries and delivered more than 14,000 training weeks to kick-start careers and provide access to accredited training for young people and the unemployed.

Social value through reducing reoffending

We're proud to deliver practical construction training courses to inmates in UK prisons, teaching the basics of hands-on trades including plumbing, bricklaying, tiling, plastering, joinery and painting and decorating.

Our support doesn't stop there - we also self-fund a 'Through the Gates' programme to provide help and guidance to ex-offenders. This supports people to obtain qualifications and find employment as they rebuild their lives following release from prison.

Social value through consultancy

We can also support you on a range of projects from start to finish.

Tenders provide a great way to address social considerations. Whether you're a public body or private developer, we can support you to design and deliver solutions that create lasting social outcomes.

We help people to deliver employability programmes (including ILMs), support local SME and social enterprise business start-ups and deliver a wide range of training initiatives for local people.
